

Sellersville Chamber of Commerce to work with association administrator
Complete selection of employer health benefits will be offered to members

Sellersville, PA – March 10, 2005 – Francis Roeder, President of the Sellersville Chamber of Commerce announced that the Chamber has retained The Administrators, Inc. (TAI) to develop a benefits program for current and prospective members. The Chamber has been in existence for nearly 80 years and is undertaking a program to enhance the educational and benefit offerings for companies in the area.

President Roeder stated that, “The Directors of the Sellersville Chamber of Commerce are quite pleased to have retained the services of The Administrators, Inc. as our new provider of health care options. Our Chamber members should be most satisfied with the many health care options available to them through the Sellersville Chamber of Commerce. The easy access and simplified explanations, of this often confusing benefit, is a great convenience for those making health care option decisions. This tremendous benefit, combined with the Chamber’s very inexpensive annual membership fee, is one reason why our membership roles continue to grow.”

Stephen Markowitz, TAI’s Chief Executive Officer stressed that TAI has been working with Bucks County businesses for more than 24 years through several business organizations. “After more than two decades of experience, we understand the problems and see some of the solutions that can be achieved through a promising menu of business benefits and educational opportunities that will strengthen the Bucks County business community and its employees.”

TAI, with offices in Broomall, Pennsylvania provides benefits, association management, membership marketing, consulting, communications, public relations and general business guidance to approximately 16,000 companies with 85,000 employees belonging to 17 different business organizations in the tri-state area.
