

Alert – Medicare Subscribers Watch out for New Scam

An organization calling itself “Health Care Reform Task Force” is issuing “Medicare Preservation Cards,” which request donations to “preserve Medicare.” The letters are marked with a “ten day deadline” stamp urging unsuspecting recipients to send information which could compromise the security of their personal identity.

As soon as one scam is discovered, another is born. Never divulge your personal information, such as social security and credit card numbers, unless you’re sure of the legitimacy of the organization asking for it.
